

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Embodiments of the invention relate to a composition, a process of making the composition, and to the use of the composition. The compositions include a molecular complex formed between an alkaline pharmaceutical drug and at least one selected from a hydroxyacid, a polyhydroxy acid, a related acid, a lactone, or combinations thereof. The compositions provide improved bioavailability and improved delivery of the drug into the cutaneous tissues.